

Abstract

A wire identification marker assembly and process for manufacturing the same is provided. The wire identification marker assembly is configured from a column of markers removably attached lengthwise on a substrate. In the process for manufacturing the wire identification assembly, a marker material is removably secured lengthwise onto a substrate.